This matter is before the court upon the Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment against Defendant David Raines Ladish, individually and d/b/a Prevue Lounge, pursuant to Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Default was entered against Defendant on August 1, 2012.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Plaintiff is a closed-circuit distributor of sports and entertainment programming. Plaintiff purchased the exclusive nationwide commercial distribution rights to Floyd Mayweather, Jr. v. Shane Mosley, Welterweight Championship Fight Program ("Program") which was broadcast on May 1, 2010. Plaintiff entered into sublicensing agreements with various commercial entities, such as bars and restaurants, by which it granted limited public exhibition rights for the benefit and entertainment of their patrons. The interstate transmission of Plaintiff's Program was encrypted and made available only to Plaintiff's customers. Plaintiff did not license the Defendant to use the Program. Plaintiff alleges in its Complaint that Defendant unlawfully intercepted and intentionally broadcast the Program in his establishment, Prevue Lounge, for the purpose of direct or indirect commercial advantage, thereby violating Section 605 of the Federal Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and Title 47 U.S.C. § 553 and accompanying telecommunications statutes. Plaintiff's Complaint also includes a pendant common-law cause of action of Conversion. Plaintiff seeks $100,000 in statutory and enhanced damages, $4,200 in conversion damages, and attorneys' fees in the amount of $1,012.50, and costs.

DEFAULT JUDGMENT STANDARD

The entry of default judgment is governed by Rule 55 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure which provides in relevant part that "[w]hen a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend, and that failure is shown by affidavit or otherwise, the clerk must enter the party's default." Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). Upon entry of default, the defaulted party is deemed to have admitted all well-pleaded allegations of fact contained in the complaint. Ryan v. Homecomings Fin. Network, 253 F.3d 778, 780 (4th Cir. 2001); see also FED. R. CIV. P. 8(b)(6) ("An allegation...other than one relating to the amount of damages...is admitted if a responsive pleading is required and the allegation is not denied."). Thus, for a default judgment, well-pleaded factual allegations are sufficient to establish a defendant's liability. Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a). However, the court cannot accept as true factual allegations of damages and must therefore make an independent determination regarding damages. Joe Hand Promotions, Inc. v. Coaches Sports Bar et al., 2011 WL4381048, at *1 (E.D.N.C. Sept. 19, 2011). The court may rely on affidavits or documentary evidence in the record to determine the appropriate sum for damages. See EEOC v. CDG Mgmt., LLC, No. RBD-08-2562, 2010 WL 4904440, at *2 (D. Md. Nov. 24, 2010) (citations omitted); EEOC v. North Am. Land Corp., No. 1:08CV501, 2010 WL 2723727, at *2 (W.D.N.C. Jul. 8, 2010).

DISCUSSION

In its motion for default judgment, Plaintiff seeks $4,200 in conversion damages, $100,000.00 in statutory and enhanced damages, as well as costs and recovery of its attorneys' fees in the amount of $1,012.50. However, Plaintiff may not recover under both Sections 553 and 605. Integrated Sports Media, Inc. v. Buruca Brother's Va., Inc., No. 1:1-cv-839, 2011 WL 5873078, at *5 (E.D.V.A. Nov. 1, 2011) (citing Kingvision Pay-Per-View, Ltd. v. Gutierrez, 544 F. Supp. 2d 1179, 1184 (D. Co. 2008); Time Warner Cable of New York City v. Sanchez, No. 02 Civ.5855, 2003 WL 21744089, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. July 8, 2003)). When plaintiffs seek damages under both statutes, courts evaluate the claims under Section 605 because it provides for a higher potential recovery. Buruca Brother's, 2011 WL 5873078, at *5; see also 47 U.S.C. §§ 553(3)(B) & 605(e)(3)(C)(ii). Furthermore, Plaintiff may not recover conversion damages in addition to actual or statutory damages under Section 605. See Joe Hand Promotions, Inc. v. Dock Street Enters., Inc., No. 11-1973, 2011 WL 6141058, at *5 n.5 (D.Md. Dec. 8, 2011). Therefore, Plaintiff's potential recovery is capped at $100,000.00 in statutory and enhanced damages, plus attorneys' fees in the amount of $1,012.50 and costs.

When calculating statutory damages courts have employed two general approaches: basing the damages calculation on the number of patrons in an establishment during the unauthorized broadcast or utilizing a flat damage amount. Buruca Brother's, 2011 WL 5873078, at *5. A flat damage amount is appropriate where, as here, there is no per-person rate for the program. See Joe Hand Promotions, Inc. v. Angry Ales, Inc., No. 3:06-cv-73, 2007 WL 3226451, at *5 (W.D.N.C. Oct. 29, 2007). In calculating a flat damage amount, the court takes into account factors such as whether the defendants are repeat violators, whether they substantially gained from their piracy, and significant actual damages the plaintiff has suffered.

Id. Courts have recognized the importance of awarding a plaintiff sufficient damages to ensure true deterrence, “[a]t a minimum, it should not cost less to violate the statute than to comply with it.” EMI April Music, Inc. v. Rodriguez, 691 F.Supp.2d 632, 636 (M.D.N.C. 2010) (citing EMI April Music, Inc. v. White, 618 F.Supp.2d 497, 508 (E.D.Va 2009)). Statutory damages may be awarded up to $10,000.00 for each violation. 47 U.S.C. § 605(e)(3)(c)(ii).

At the time Plaintiff’s investigator visited, there were between thirty-five to seventy people in the establishment at any given time. In addition, Plaintiff’s investigator was required to pay a cover charge of $10.00 in order to enter the establishment. Defendant clearly gained from his piracy, though the exact amount cannot be established due to Defendant’s failure to respond. However, some speculation is permitted when Defendant’s failure to respond has thwarted the process by which a more accurate computation of damages could be achieved. Joe Hand Promotions, Inc. v. Coaches Sports Bar, 2011 WL 4381048, at *2 (E.D.N.C. Sept. 19, 2011). Aside from costs and attorneys’ fees, Plaintiff’s actual damages claims are the $4,200.00 Program fee Plaintiff charged establishments of Defendant’s size and an undenominated amount that Plaintiff expended on “investigation.” Plaintiff has sufficiently shown that it is entitled to $4,200.00 in actual damages.

In addition to statutory damages, if the court determines that the violations were committed “willfully and for purposes of direct or indirect commercial advantage or private financial gain,” the court may award enhanced damages of up to $100,000.00 for each violation under §605(e)(3)(c)(ii). Integrated Sports Media, Inc. v. Buruca Brother’s Va., Inc., No. 1:11-cv-839, 2011 WL 5873078, at *6 (E.D.V.A. Nov. 1, 2011). The primary purpose behind this provision is to deter future violations. See J&J Sports Prods., Inc. v. Las Chivas, No. 5:10-cv-187, 2012 WL 71819, at *3 (W.D.N.C. Jan. 10, 2012). The level of damages awarded should be sufficiently substantial to ensure the statute's purpose is fulfilled. EMI April Music, Inc. v. Rodriguez, 691 F.Supp.2d 632, 636 (M.D.N.C. 2010) (quoting F.W. Woolworth Co. v. Contemporary Arts, Inc., 344 U.S. 228, 233 (1952)). In determining the amount of appropriate damages, the Fourth Circuit has looked to the following “Nalley” factors: the severity of the violation, the degree of harm to the plaintiff, the relative financial burdens of the parties, and the purpose to be served by imposing statutory damages. J&J Sports Prods., Inc. v. Olmos, No. 5:08-cv-33, 2010 WL 625283, at *2 (W.D.N.C. Feb. 19, 2010) (citing DirecTV, Inc. v. Rawlins, 523 F.3d 318, 330 n.8 (4th Cir. 2008); Nalley v. Nalley, 53 F.3d 649, 652 (4th Cir. 1995)).

Plaintiff sufficiently established the violation was committed “willfully and for the purposes of direct or indirect commercial advantage” and thus enhanced damages are appropriate. After a careful analysis of the Nalley factors, the Court finds that an additional $5,000.00 in enhanced damages is appropriate for a total of $9,200.00. See Las Chivas, 2012 WL 71819, at *3 (awarding $5,000.00 in enhanced statutory damages where it was the defendants' second violation); J & J Sports Productions, Inc. v. Olmos, 2010 WL 625283 (W.D.N.C. Feb. 19, 2010) (awarding $5,000.00 in statutory damages where the establishment had ten to twelve patrons and subject programming was not displayed until the investigator affirmatively asked to see it); Angry Ales, 2007 WL 3226451, at *5 (awarding $1,000.00 in statutory damages where the bar had only one patron present and the investigator had to specifically request the encrypted program).

Plaintiff requests $1,012.50 in attorneys' fees. This sum represents 4.5 hours of work at $225.00 per hour. This amount of fees is reasonable. Plaintiff is also entitled to the costs of this action, but has yet to submit these costs to the Court. See 47 U.S.C. § 605(e)(3)(A)(iii); Fed. R. Civ. P. 54(d)(1).

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment is GRANTED; and Judgment is hereby entered against David Raines Ladish in the amount of $9,200.00, plus $1,012.50 in attorneys' fees and costs.
